In Spain, Mancomunidad refers to the free association of municipalities within the national legal framework, which creates a higher local authority and the associated municipalities delegate some of the functions and powers conferred on them by law, the purpose of which is provided a service for all members jointly.

The associations are not associative forms of territorial municipalities and therefore does not require municipalities that comprise them are adjacent. They require, though, that clearly set the target, there is an own budget and a management bodies and also own distinct participants.
